

Canadian Nurses Protective Society Presents

“What are my legal obligations surrounding accountability and advocacy in nursing?”

ARNPEI and CNPS invite you to attend a one hour webinar to explore and discuss what your legal obligations are surrounding accountability and advocacy in nursing.

The concepts of accountability and advocacy play central roles in the nursing profession, but what are they, and how do they fit into your daily practice? Attend this webinar session to learn about these key concepts in order to better understand your responsibility for your actions, as well as the actions of others and to discuss your duty of advocacy with respect to your patients and the profession as a whole.

When: April 19th

Time: 1300-1400

Where: Webinar – (You can also join us in the ARNPEI boardroom)

Presenter Alanna Lawson B.A (Hons), LL.B, LL.L

Alanna Lawson, B.A (Hons), LL.B, LL.L, is a Legal Advisor with the Canadian Nurses Protective Society.

Alanna has experience in a range of areas within health law including professional liability, regulatory matters, privacy and professional discipline. Prior to joining the CNPS, Alanna was an associate at a large national law firm where she practiced almost exclusively in the area of health law with a focus on civil medical defence and regulatory matters.

Registration: Please email info@arnpei.ca or call 902 368-3764

Please Note: CNPS will provide ARNPEI with a link to this webinar presentation to distribute to only those who have registered with ARNPEI.

To participate in this event, nurses will need a set of computer speakers or headphones and the computer needs to have Adobe Flash installed. Most PCs and Macs already have this installed.
